

As historians we will look at seaside holidays in the past. We will compare pictures of beach scenes in the past and present and we will discuss similarities and differences. We will take a trip back in time and imagine we are on a beach holiday 50 years ago. We will think about the different seaside activities that took place and write a postcard describing what we did on our holiday in the past.

As geographers we will look at different places people go on holiday. We will describe what these different places are like and where they are in relation to where we live.

Speaking and Listening

We will ask questions about different holidays.

We will take turns in talking about holidays we have been on.

We will take on different roles within our role play area.

Writing Opportunities

We will write about seaside features.

We will label photographs from the past.

We will write postcards.

We will write the story of 'Lucy and Tom at the Seaside' by Shirley Hughes.

Maths Opportunities

We will learn how to tell the time (o'clock).

We will create a graph showing holiday destinations.

We will have various counting, adding and subtracting experiences connected to our topic.

Social, Moral, Spiritual, Cultural

We will work together cooperatively in role play and games.

We will take turns in talking and actively listen to each other.
